TOBACCO FUND REACHES TOTAL FIFTY DOLLARS

Necessary Sum Raised for Sending Smokes to No. 3 (McGill) General Hospital.

WEEK'S OBJECT ATTAINED

Will Continue to Send Tobacco to McGill Men at the Front Indefinitely.

It is with a feeling of great satisfaction that the Daily is able to announce that the object set for the first week's campaign of the Tobacco Fund, namely, a whole case of tobacco and cigarettes for the No. 3 General Hospital (McGill), has been attained. The case will contain 40 lbs. of Old Chum tobacco and ten thousand Sweet Caporal cigarettes, and undoubtedly there will be some very happy "meds" when it reaches its destination.

The student body must not feel that it has now completed its duty in this direction, for there are still many McGill men to be supplied. It has been suggested that the second week's contribution be forwarded to the First University Company under Lieutenant Gregor Barclay.

To-day starts a new week for the fund, and it is hoped that what has been done this week will be duplicated.

If you are not able to come into the Union with your quarter, leave it with the janitor of your building. Phone us and we will send for it.

Get busy, boys, and show that the first week's campaign was not a mistake.

ARTS '19 ELECTION

Freshmen in Arts Get Busy on Advice of Dean Moyse.

ARTS '19 ELECTION . . . . . m6 . mb
A meeting of the first year Arts men was held yesterday immediately after the Latin lecture, for the purpose of electing their officers. The results were as follows: President, S. J. Hodgson; vice-president, A. H. McLean; treasurer, H. Lipsey; secretary, J. Black.

Owing to the lack of time, it was impossible to elect the class reporters, but this will be done as soon as possible.

JUNIORS HOLD FIRST MEETING OF THE YEAR

Officers Were Elected for the Coming Session—Other Business Done.

ERIC CUSHING PRESIDENT

Junior Dance Question Brought Up for Discussion—Varying Opinions Expressed.

The junior year held their first meeting in Strathcona Hall yesterday afternoon at 5 p.m. There was a very fair attendance, in spite of the fact that the Law Faculty had lectures at that hour, as also had Medicine.

In the absence of J. K. Mathewson the president of last year, Mr. W. Sutherland, of Science, '16, took the chair and opened the meeting.

He began by calling for nominations for President. Eric Cushing, nominated by T. Shanly, was elected by acclamation. At this point a member of the meeting suggested reserving an office for the Law Faculty, as they were not represented. But the general feeling of those present seemed to be against this, so the point was dismissed.

Of the two Vice-Presidents the office of 1st Vice-President it was decided to have filled by an R.V.C. representative. For the second, H. R. Morgan was nominated by N. B. Allan and seconded by G. Bourke. Mr. Agimian nominated Mr. Balm, and Mr. Smith seconded the nomination. On a show of hands Mr. Morgan was chosen to fill the position.

Discuss Junior Dance.

T. J. Kelly, of Law, '17, nominated by Mr. Lowe, seconded by Mr. Bourke, was elected by acclamation to the office of Secretary, and Mr. Eadie was elected as treasurer. These results left Medicine, '17 one of the largest of the years unrepresented, so after a discussion it was moved by Mr. Lemay that owing to the arduous duties of the treasurer of the Junior Year, an Assistant Treasurer should be elected. The motion was carried, and it was decided to ask Medicine, '17, to elect an Assistant Treasurer of themselves.

When the question of the Junior Dance was brought up, an immense amount of interest was displayed. Through a haze of talk Mr. Stanley moved that a vote be taken on the question, at the present meeting. A unanimous decision against the Junior Dance was arrived at, though the motion was very vaguely understood.

Mr. Lemay, however, moved that the committee, composed of the year executive, should find out the feeling throughout college on the subject, and also see how much support would be accorded a Junior Dance. The motion was carried. It was then decided that each Faculty should elect its members for the committee, after which business having exhausted itself, the meeting adjourned.

JUNIOR MEDICOS ELECT OFFICERS

G. E. D. Desaulniers Is Elected President of Class for Ensuing Term.

The first meeting of the class of Med., '17, was held yesterday morning with vice-president Desaulniers in the chair.

The following members were elected as an executive for the ensuing year. President, G. E. D. Desaulniers. Vice-President, H. B. Church. Secretary, J. D. Moore. Treasurer, J. B. O'Reilly.

A motion to the effect that a letter of condolence be written to C. M. Sullivan was then put before the class and carried unanimously. A week ago last Wednesday, Mr. Sullivan received a telegram that his father had died suddenly. Mr. Sullivan himself was just recovering from a serious accident which he had met with while working in a saw-mill last June.

The class then discussed the feasibility of a class football team, and as the majority were willing to turn out H. B. Church and A. S. Lamb were elected managers.

ENROLLMENT BELOW THAT OF PREVIOUS YEAR

Figures Show Large Decrease in Faculties of Science and Medicine.

FRESHMEN LOSE BIG LEAD

Twenty Per Cent. Increase in Registration Since Opening of Term.

The registration figures just given out by the Registrar show a large general decrease. All the faculties have suffered in this respect, yet the Science faculty shows the great deficit.

As will be seen by the figures given below, a very unusual fact is evidenced. The Arts faculty registration is larger than that of Applied Science. In addition to this fact, it is to be noted that the freshmen have lost to a great extent their much-talked-of lead in numbers. The sophomore classes have filled up remarkably indeed since the first statement of registration was given out last Monday, in fact, the whole registration has increased some twenty-five per cent. since the first day of the term.

The complete figures of this year, as well as those of the previous session are as follows:

Social Privileges of University Life

Ask the average undergraduate what he expects to obtain from his years' work and he will at once say that he hopes for a degree of one sort or others. As a matter of fact, however, there are numerous other recompenses that come to him, perhaps not in parchment, but yet in terms as audible. The greatest of these is what might be termed his social degree or, in other words, the sum and quality of the friendships and acquaintances that he forms during his period of college study. These remarks, too, often outvalue in after years the more visible and regular awards of a sojourn at the University. For while it may be argued that many men go to the extreme in the social exercises of University life the fact nevertheless remains that however beneficial it may be to know facts, it is still more desirable to know human nature. And, so while by no means depreciating the academic value of collegiate study, it is necessary that the undergraduate should seek by every means in his power, to cultivate the friendship of others of his kind that he may amplify to its perfect fullness the course of preparation for his lifework.

Now, every freshman has a few acquaintances in his own year or set. As term follows term this acquaintanceship grows into a lasting friendship, which in its own way is very pleasant. Yet, it is not sufficient. In all probability these freshmen acquaintances are preparing for the same profession, are in the same social scale, or else were well known to each other before university threw them into closer relationship. If, therefore, the undergraduate limits himself to such friendship he is missing a great opportunity. There are around him in class room, in college activities, on the campus, men who are fitting themselves for all the professions to which University points the way. There are, too, those whose natures, whose social status, whose capabilities are absolutely different from his own. The undergraduate has, therefore, the opportunity, the privilege of meeting and cultivating the acquaintance of these his fellows on common ground. Embryo lawyers, doctors, clergymen, the thousand and one species of our varied professional life are thus given the chance of getting in touch with phases of life and thought which will enable them the more broadly and clearly to interpret human life as well as fitting themselves the better to fill the place they have chosen for their lifework.

It seems, therefore, that this privilege becomes almost a duty to the undergraduate himself as well as to the community of which he forms a part. By a little effort and perseverance he can break down the barrier of reserve that surrounds some of his fellows and enable himself to see into their heart with some clearness and much mutual benefit.

It is, then, our duty as students of McGill to go out into the University seeking to give of ourselves in acquaintanceship and receive of the benefits that must accrue. Then our self repression will be changed into the fullest self expression, and the years that we spend here will tabulate many experiences which we will appreciate when the world of affairs claims us from the sphere of class room and professor.

Students' Expenses

The Yale News, in summarizing the expense of a four-year course at one of the oldest universities might seem to discourage the poor students from entering the battle for a university training. One must appreciate, however, that there are scores of undergraduates working their way through Yale University, and it is probably true that few institutions of America give more attention to securing employment for students or to granting honor to the man who is earning his living while pursuing his studies.

According to the report given in the Yale News, 261 men in the Yale senior class will have paid by graduation day $1,079,111 to secure their diplomas. The largest amount spent in a single year by any one man was $4,500, and this was in his freshman year. Another senior about to graduate, however, spent in his freshman year only $200, and the average expense for the class was $1,076.

In the sophomore year the wealthier men of the present senior class spent less money, the largest amount for a single student being $2,800, while the minimum was again $200. The education expense of the junior year for members of this class was an increase, $4,000 being spent by the most extravagant student and $200 being the minimum. The average in this year was $1,106. It is estimated that the report for the present year will show an expense of $3,000 as the maximum for the most expensive education, with $250 for the least expensive training.

When one realizes the low cost of educational advantages at the majority of the universities of the Orient, as well as at many of the institutions of higher learning in Europe, these figures seem incongruous. It is an open question whether the real training of the man and his character in college is not handicapped rather than advanced by excessive expenditure, which naturally implies associating with many things that are not in direct line with the purpose of the university.

Round About the College

Monday being Thanksgiving Day and a University holiday, no issue of the McGill Daily will appear.

On Monday, October 11, the annual Y.M.C.A. Thanksgiving supper provided by the Ladies' Auxiliary for away-from-home students will be given in Strathcona Hall. Invitations were posted in the common room yesterday. The social committee desires that all those who intend to be present will place their reply in Strathcona Hall by 5 o'clock to-night.

The framed and glass-covered timetable which has decorated the hall of the Arts Building for the last decade without being of any particular use, is about to be replaced by an improved notice board for the placing of notices from the faculty, and different years and organizations. Art students will find this a decided improvement over the former method of posting notices.

Billy Button is the name of the new assistant janitor of the Arts Building, who has taken up the duties vacated by Donald McIntosh, who is with the 60th Battalion at Valcartier. Billy was formerly night watchman at the Arts Building, and makes a capital assistant to "Art."

The smoking room of the Arts Building has not yet been opened to students because of its use as an armory. Some thousand rifles belonging to the Auxiliary Battalion, C.O.T.C., are in keeping there, but it is expected that these will be removed shortly and the room once more ready for occupation by devotees of "My Lady Nicotine."

The date for the payment of fees has been extended to Wednesday, Oct. 13, on account of Oct. 10, the date prescribed in the Calendar, falling on Sunday and of the following day being a University holiday.

The undergraduates' telephone at the Arts Building has not yet been installed for the session, but the executive of the Arts' Undergraduates' Society hopes to have it placed early next week.

Lieut. C. J. Tidmarsh, representative of the Literary and Debating Society to the Intercollegiate Debating League, will attend a meeting of the league to be held at Kingston on Thursday. It is most improbable that there will be intercollegiate debating at McGill this year.

QUIPS

Good morning! Are you a Freshie?

Freshmen of McGill, "Quips" welcomes you. Were it not for you, this column, alas! would suffer direly. Think how the editor would spend long hours, weary and unproductive, attempting to fill this column, if you were not factors in the doings of the college. It makes no difference whether it be on the campus. (Dang it! the office muse has just rapped me on the head, so you must excuse me a minute while I remark:

Little Verdant Freshman
Walking on the green,
Reminded it so very much
He scarcely could be seen.

Ah! now I feel better). As I was saying, whether it be on the campus, in the Union or in the spacious halls of the University buildings, you are to be marked out as the butt of good-natured jokes. Be wise in your generation and resent them not. Worthier ones than ye have resented them and got their, so be careless and—be good-natured.

A newly-arrived Freshman took a cab at Windsor Station for the college. During the short drive he thought of his having left home, mother, the girl, etc., and as a result he wept copiously. When the college was reached the caddy, seeing the student's plight, said:

"Come, my little man, you mustn't cry when you left?"
"Yes, sir," sobbed the Freshie.
"Silly old woman! And did your sister cry?"
"Yes, sir," with another sob.
"Stupid little thing! And did your father cry?"
"No, sir."
"Ard-carried old beggar!"

Can any one inform us as to the identity of the young soldier at the summer training camp who put a wooden pail full of water on the gas stove and lit the gas?

All Freshmen, Please Notice.
A gay young stude from Quebec. His thirst for gin-fizz couldn't check. He loved it so well That now, sad to tell, The poor stude's a fizzical wreck.

It has been noticed every year that the Freshmen entering McGill are at a loss as to the manner in which they are expected to conduct themselves. This, we understand, is a perfectly natural characteristic, and as we are ever watchful over those staying here, we have deemed it advisable to draw up the following code of rules for their guidance:

1. Remove your hats in the corridors and when addressing upper class men.
2. Do not roll hoops or play marbles on the campus.
3. Take an interest in athletics. Join the gym class, but be careful not to fall into the swimming pool.
4. Don't take shower baths; they are needed for others.
5. When passing upper class men, step off the sidewalk into the roadway; if the roadway is covered with mud, then step in the mud.
6. If you are short of money, DON'T ask the Dean of your faculty to lend you some. Strange as it may seem, the Deans are not in favor of the practice.
7. Send your photos to the "Quips" editor. Ofttimes we run short of jokes.
8. Wear red buttons or pink ties so that we may be able to recognize you—and see that you keep the above regulations.

If we might be permitted to add a word or two to the above, we would suggest that you cut out these rules and paste them in your room in a prominent position—some place where your eyes will fall upon them frequently—the mirror for example.

"Quips" was strolling up the campus walk the other day behind two Sophos and could not help overhearing their conversation. They were evidently discussing a forlorn Freshie whom they had just passed. Soph. No. 1 said:

"I wonder why he has such a vacant expression?"

"Oh," returned the other, "I suppose he thinks about himself a lot."

Rus in Urbe: Freshman at McGill.

In the reading room of the Union last Monday, two students met, and with hearty handshakes welcomed each other's return. After enquiries as to health, wealth, etc., had been exchanged, one said:

"That's so," assented the other. "Dad did kick on the expense, but I threatened to stay at home and help run the business, and then he decided that a college course would be cheaper."

"Where, oh, where are the grave old seniors?"

"Is a song we've often sung. They are all office boys at present, Starting at the lowest rung."

A professor in one of the Freshman classes was attempting to discover what knowledge his charges had of ancient history.

"Now," he asked, "I wish you to mention some memorable dates in Roman history."

There was the usual silence, until one youth, for whom there is a niche reserved in the Hall of Fame, said:

"Please, sir, Anthony's with Cleopatra."

There are many strange tales told of the summer camp of the McGill soldiers. Example gratia: One of the fellows was tackling his first ration of beefsteak in a very determined manner.

"By golly!" he was heard to remark, "I think I know now what people mean when they talk about the sinews of war."

And now that we are talking about the war, I would like to make the observation that there is more in this submarine business than appears on the surface.

The Union reading room hears some queer tales. For instance, two students were conversing upon various topics. "Quips" (ensconced in an adjacent chair) heard this gem of the conversation:

First Stude—"Do you get board where you are rooming?"

Second Stude—"Oh, yes! Awfully bored—there isn't a girl in the place."

Although registration is now a thing of the past (for the present at least), nevertheless any one who frequents the lunch room at the Union during meal time can see, every day, fellows filling up their forms.

What was that Science freshman who, in the greenness of his youth perched his head warmer on the knob of the door of the Physics lecture room the other morning? He won't do it again, because one of the standbys of the Physics Building soon connected his eye with the aforesaid head warmer and immediately and not sooner transferred it to the lower regions, or in other words that respectable familiar to all students because of its connection with second-hand books of all descriptions and with the distribution of our college sheet.

The Arms of Morphems.
There is a guy who makes me sigh around Strathcona Hall. He talks amain and raises Cain most any hour at all:

He'll howl an air and make you swear and hurl his hob-nailed shoes Upon the floor at half-past four, and break your beauty snooze. Where'er he stays he always plays at baseball with your trunk. What time me try to close an eye and dream we're in Squedunk. Where no one toots or shrieks or loots or makes the welkin ring. But goes to bed and shuts his head and snores like anything. It's hardly right, beyond midnight, to stamp upstairs and make Some tired gink wake and think a number nine earthquake Is on the job and playing hob and caving in the floor.

And ramming the heads of iron beds through suit-cases and doors. We wish our friend would kindly end the midnight lecture stunt. We'd cease to weep, we'd get some sleep, and clubs no longer hunt.

English Course Ineffective in Cuba

Washington, October 9.—That Cuba stopped the teaching of English in its public schools because under the methods in use the children were failing to learn properly, and that the Government intends to resume the teaching of English as soon as a more efficacious means can be devised, is the statement made by Dr. Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, Cuban Minister to the United States.

According to Dr. Cespedes, the Cuban children were going through the course without gaining any practical knowledge of the language, and it was only when the Government realized the futility of the system that it was withdrawn.

"The administration," said Dr. Cespedes, "realizes the great value of a knowledge of the language of the United States to Cubans, and its policy is to encourage the study of it in every practicable way." The Government, he added, had been reluctant to take this study out of the schools. The courses were maintained at great expense, in the country districts as well as in the cities. The arrangement was for the English teachers to go from one room to another, giving the classes an average of perhaps three hours a week each. It was found that between classes the children forgot much of what they had learned, and that students who were really determined to know English sought outside instruction.

What better plan of English instruction the Government might adopt, the minister did not attempt to forecast. He said he expected a formal statement from Havana in a few days, setting forth the reasons for the change and perhaps giving more definite information as to the future.

The great clubs which are a distinctive feature of Cuban society have been and still are an important agency for the teaching of English. Chief among these are the Gallego, the Asturiano and the Clerks Clubs. They have in the aggregate more than 100,000 members. They are not merely social organizations, but for the monthly fee of $1.50 they provide a large number of personal services for their members, and among these is schooling.

These clubs have day schools for children and night schools for adults at Havana and in all the principal cities of the island, and in all the branches, English with a great variety of other subjects is taught with success. Practically any one, poor or rich, can become a member upon the payment of the fees.

"Jimmy" reports that two of the arc lights which are placed over the east campus have been broken, presumably by footballs striking them. The east campus is used as a recreation ground by the men of the Fourth University Company.

University Book Club Has Balance of $22.43 On Hand.

The tenth annual meeting of the University Book Club was held Thursday in the McGill University Library, the Rev. Dr. Welsh presiding. The secretary reported that, in spite of outside conditions and inevitable resignations through military service, the club had at the end of September a membership of 122, and had more than maintained the general interest.
A shelf reserved entirely for books on the war had proved very successful, and had rivalled fiction in popularity, every effort being made to keep adding constantly to it with the newest and best publications.

The report of the treasurer, Mr. T.
Ridder Davies, showed a free balance of $22.43, the revenue having been $599.87, and the expenditure, mostly in books, $577.44.

The present officers were unanimously re-elected, and Dr. Colby asked to fill the vacancy in the committee.

MAJOR DILLON WAS DEVOTED AND POPULAR

McGill Graduate Gave Life for His Country. Says Commandant of Hospital.

WAS KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Officer Fell From Flight of Stone Steps and Never Regained Consciousness.

Details of how Major W. P. Dillon, M.D., Med., '04, of Ottawa, met his death, of the devoted service he rendered his country, the great popular esteem in which he was held by his associates and the wounded soldiers and the marked honors accorded him at the funeral are given in a letter received by his sister, Miss Dillon, from Col. J. W. Bridges, Commandant of No. 2 Canadian General Hospital in France.

Dr. Dillon was accidentally killed by a fall on a flight of stone steps on Tuesday morning, May 4th. To Miss Dillon in her bereavement, Col.
Bridges gives the consolation that her brother gave the very best that was in him to the wounded and suffering who had good reason to remember his kind ministrations, and that he has given his life for his country just as completely as those who have met their fates on the field of honor. In death he was accorded a funeral such as a field marshal seldom has in war time.

The letter, which is dated May 8th, is as follows:

"In confirmation of my sad cable of the 4th, I regret to have to inform you of the very deplorable accident which befel your poor brother at 8 o'clock on the morning of the 4th inst., depriving you of a loving brother, No.
2 Canadian General Hospital, of a brave, loyal, devoted member and the military service as a whole, of a valuable officer.

None So Devoted.

We had none so devoted to the unit as he, none so popular with all ranks, and no one who can fill his place, not only as a zealous, efficient, professional officer, but as a whole-hearted, cheery, optimistic companion. He was ever ready to cheer us in our darker hours of discouragement, and to exult with us in our reeling joys of triumph.
But he is gone and has given his life for his country, just as completely as those who have met their various fates on the field of honor.

While with us, he had one of the biggest surgical sections of the unit under his charge; ward after ward filled with broken, suffering humanity. To one and all he gave the very best that was in him, and many a suffering soldier has good reason to remember his kind ministrations and watchful care.

If you have ever been on the heights of Quebec, you will know what the place is like. There is a flight of stone steps leading from our plateau to the lower town, 385 steps in all. It was on going down these steps on Tuesday morning, that he either slipped off or was trying to take a short cut down a precipitous path, which intersected these steps near the bottom. He was seen in the act of rolling near the bottom, but not when he actually left the steps proper, so it is not exactly known whether he fell from the steps or on to the narrow path. However, he rolled down a steep incline, striking his head on a stone at the bottom.
He never regained consciousness and passed away in twelve hours.

Military Funeral.

We gave him a military funeral which was attended by all nationalities, some coming from a considerable distance. The Mayor and Corporation of Le Treport were there; the Belgian General who defended Liege against the Germans; the French Commandant here, large details from
No. 3 and No. 16 British General Hospitals; the Army Service and the Engineers.

The coffin, covered by the Union Jack, was drawn by four black horses.
A led charger riderless, with sword, boots and spurs reversed, followed the hearse. Then the long line of officers and soldiers, reaching nearly a mile.
Seldom a field Marshall in war time had such a funeral.

The floral tributes were about the finest I have ever seen. His brother officers of No. 2 Canadian General Hospital gave a rather handsome pillow, the sisters a large anchor, the sergeants a pillow, the men a most beautiful wreath; the military masons a wreath; the officers of the Army Service Corps a wreath; Major and Mrs. Lorne Gardner and Capt. McLeod, wreath. They were all beautiful and the most massive I have ever seen at a funeral. There were other smaller bouquets and cut flowers.

Colonel Shillington, Major Bell and Capt. Young motored down from La Touquet to be in attendance. He was laid in a bright little spot in our British Military graveyard, which is rapidly filling. The Last Post was sounded, and we turned sorrowfully away. Rarely does a day pass here without a little cortege seen winding its way down the hill, with one more hero of England's fallen dead.

He has been called to leave us, and his memory will be cherished in the hearts of his officer friends and will continue fresh and green, strong and enduring, as long as a single member of No. 2 Canadian General Hospital is left to listen to the old repeated sound of the Last Post as the weird notes of the bugle go floating and reverberat-ing on the quiet evening air. His loss, to us, is irreparable. I wish I could adequately express our deep sympathy but words fail me to convey to you what we really feel.

With best wishes from us all, I am,
Yours sincerely,
(Sgd.) J. W. BRIDGES.

The late Major Dillon, M.D., C.M.,

NEW MEN NEEDED FOR UNION BOARD

Resignation of W. H. Aird, Arts, '17, is Received and Accepted.

A meeting of the Union house committee was held yesterday, at which a number of important matters were discussed. The resignation of W. H.
Aird, one of the representatives of Arts '17 on the committee, was received and accepted. It is now necessary to elect new representatives from Arts and Science for billiards. Nominations will close on October 18, and the elections will take place on October 25.

G. M. Willis, Sci. '16, president of the Union, reported on the general repairs to the building, and also mentioned the installation of new nitro lamps in the ceiling lights.

A grant was made for billiard cues, and also a grant for new uniforms for the hall porter.

The report of the engagement of Mr.
Randall as caterer was approved.

THE IMPERIAL

Next week's bill includes many pictures that will find favor with the many patrons of the Imperial.

On Monday and Tuesday the chief attraction will be "The World's Desire," a pathetic drama of a childless home. The picture with a tear and a smile, and with a most pleasing theme, Miss Lillian Bralwhite, a noted English actress, will appear in the leading role, supported by an exceptionally good company. The acting of the little child is most sympathetic and appealing.

"Dreamy Dud Cowboy," a comedy cartoon: Pathe News and the Vitagraph Company's famous little actor Sunny Jim, will be included on the picture programme.

At the change of pictures on Wednesday Geo. Ade's famous comedy play "Just Out of College," which has recently been pictured in five reels, will prove a great feature. Chicago newspapers quote it as follows:

"Just Out of College" is one of the best film comedies ever seen. The picture is decidedly good. — Chicago Examiner.

People who are looking for a good laugh in pictureland will do well to see "Just Out of College." It is a film humor of good sort, rippling ways, with something of a musical comedy swing, clearly photographed and well acted. — Chicago Tribune.

"Just Out of College" is chock full of rich and rollicking humor from beginning to end. — Chicago Evening American.

It is a corking comedy, one of the best presented in some time, and deserves the laugh it receives. — Chicago Herald.

The action is fast, furious and funny; it possesses a wealth of humorous situations, effectively handled and unquestionably provides good, wholesome entertainment that is bound to satisfy everybody. — Chicago Daily News.

And lastly, what the author himself says: "I heartily approve of it. There is everything in the picture that I had in my play. — George Ade."

This picture is now being shown at the Fine Arts Theatre in Chicago, where the admission is 25c, 50c and $1.
In addition to this Pathe News and a Vitaphone drama featuring Harry Morey, entitled "The Shadow of Fear," will also be shown.

On Friday and Saturday the 9th chapter of "The Goddess," and a two-part drama entitled "The Rehearsal" will be the chief attractions.
The musical numbers next week are Daniels and Conrad, Violin and Piano.
Vaudeville has an attraction out of the ordinary. These two boys, for they are not out of their teens, have erected a country wide sensation by their mastery playing on the violin and piano. They began the study of music when mere youngsters, and proved such apt pupils that before either had reached the age of ten they were selected as leaders of their school orchestra. They have so far advanced in their studies that by the time they were ready to graduate from the grammar school in New York City they had already received several flattering offers to appear together in vaudeville. They present in vaudeville a programme of classical selections that is bound to meet with the approbation of all lovers of good music.

Miss Gertrude Renier, soprano, who makes her first Montreal appearance, will also be seen.

Ottawa and was house surgeon in St.
Luke's Hospital until 1907. This year he went to the old country and took the triple degree, L.R.C.P., and S.
Edinburgh, and L.F.P. and S. Glasgow.
On returning to Ottawa he took up a general and successful practice with an office at 72 Elgin street, and later at 253 Waverley street, which he held until his departure for overseas service in September, 1914. Major Dillon joined the A.M.C. in Ottawa early in his career as Lieutenant, attending all the military camps, both at Barrie-field and Petawawa, and rapidly rose to the rank of Major. Major Dillon leaves four sisters, Mrs. G. N. Hanes, Toronto; Mrs. James Harris, Windsor, Ont.; Miss Hattie, of Montreal, and Miss Lillian Dillon, of Ottawa, and a cousin, Miss Mary Blyth.

An effort was made to arrange that the late Major Dillon's remains be conveyed to Ottawa for burial, but the Military Authorities here stated that the British War Office will not undertake to have bodies removed from either France or Belgium. Had he died in England the sending of the body might have been arranged.

The following letter was received yesterday from Private S. R. Symonds, of the First University Company, reinforcements P.P.C.L.I.:

My Dear —
In the last few days we have done much travelling and are now many miles from our previous quarters. Last Saturday the regiment marched to the station at H——. Here we were put into small freight cars which are now generally used for transporting troops.
There were thirty-eight in our car and we were packed like sardines. We travelled all night. In the morning we arrived at G—— where we disembarked.

After a canteen of hot tea and some bread and jam, which Burgess and I had taken along, the regiment again moved off. We marched ten miles and then bivouacked near a small village.
The next day we again took to the road and marched about four miles.
We are now billeted in long huts on the bank of a canal. By train and marching we have covered almost a hundred miles in the last week.

The French are now on both sides of us. We have not been in the trenches yet, but some of the officers have. The Germans have the advantage of position, which in order to counteract, the French have dug deep trenches. The distance between the lines ranges from seventy-five to two hundred yards. Watch for the French reports of the Somme Valley district.

French Troops Cheerful.

Yesterday many of the French troops passed here on their way from the trenches after being relieved by another regiment of our brigade. They were a cheerful lot and very congenial.
I spoke to some of them and gave them some cigarettes which they were always on the look out for.

The day before we left our rest camp there was a great aeroplane duel. The Englishman executed some brilliant movements which enabled him to get in a favorable position for his pilot to use the machine gun. The pilot put a shot through the petrol tank of the Taube. The Taube volplaned for his lines coming down at a great rate.
When the German realized that it was impossible for him to get to his own lines he hoped to land in a field some distance from any English troops, however, he came near a road where an English regiment was on the march. The pilot opened fire on the English. The regiment answered to both the driver and the pilot who were killed. One of the English soldiers was also killed. The Taube was undamaged.

I am quite well and although the marches have been a little severe while they lasted, yet you soon forget them after you stop.

SCIENCE LECTURES TO START AT NINE

Faculty Disapproves of Early Lectures as Voted by Undergrads.

Late yesterday afternoon notices were posted in the Engineering Building announcing the commencement of the winter schedule with lectures beginning at 9 o'clock, for Tuesday morning next.

The Science Undergraduates, at a meeting held a few days ago voted in favor of the continuance of the 8 o'clock lectures, but, at a meeting of the Faculty of Applied Science on Thursday last, it was decided to bring the 9 o'clock timetable into effect next week.

The new hours for lectures will be from nine to one each morning, and from two to five in the afternoons.
This will certainly be a hard blow to those who wish to play football at McGill, but, will be welcomed by others who dislike early rising.

The regular Winter Time Tables are now posted for all Science courses and may be seen near the janitor's office in the Engineering Building.

AT HIS MAJESTY'S.

The Montreal School for the Blind benefit at His Majesty's for ten performances next week, starts with a special Thanksgiving Matinee on Monday. The play chosen for this occasion is George Fleming's dramatization of Kipling's novel, "The Light That Failed," which seems very appropriate for this worthy charity.

It may at once be said that the author has done no injustice to Kipling, but has, on the contrary, done much to enhance his reputation. The playwright, by the way, who masquerades under the male pseudonym of "George Fleming," is a lady—the Miss Constance Fletcher, who has written books and who, in years gone by, has had plays produced by Mr. John Hare and Mrs. Patrick Campbell, and Mr.
Charles Frohman. Her dramatization has the rare merit of retaining the distinctive flavor of the original, instead of eliminating it.

The ladies in charge of the benefit for the Montreal School for the Blind have arranged with Sister Beatrice Bartlett, the pioneer organizer of the temporary hospitals in France for the French Government, to speak at both performances next Monday. Our boys at the front and the general conditions prevailing in the trenches in France will be the subject Sister Beatrice will speak upon. Sister Beatrice is under the direction of the Government of France's military medical staff.

ALL PURE WOOL - GUARANTEED UNSHRINKABLE

Wool has gone up from 50 to 75% in price since war was declared, yet "CEETEE" UNDERWEAR remains the same price at present because most "CEETEE" dealers had the foresight to place their orders for fall requirements before the great advance in wool and yarns, and the fact that we had a large stock of wool on hand, therefore made up what we could out of our old stock at the old prices, but in the future we shall be compelled to charge higher prices according to the market price of wool and CEETEE UNDERWEAR will, of necessity, cost much more.

PRINCETON MAN IS ARRESTED AS SPY

Disappeared From College, Joined British Navy, Now Facing Death Sentence.

New York, October 9.—Kenneth G.
Triest, a 19-year-old freshman at Princeton, disappeared from college early in January last. No trace of him was found, though private detectives were employed to search, until recently a despatch came to Wolfgang Gustav Triest, at his home, 970 Park Avenue, from the State Department in Washington. It told the father that his lost boy was a prisoner in London, accused as a spy, of having enlisted in Great Britain's navy to learn secrets which he might send to Germany, the birthplace of his father.

Practically day and night since then the father has worked to save his son from death, the fate of a spy. He has employed legal aid, has become his own private detective seeking evidence to help his son, and to-night he said he had done what he thought was his utmost. He had presented evidence, the testimony of many of the boy's acquaintances, to show that his son was mentally unbalanced, to Secretary Lansing, of the Department of State, and had asked that his son be discharged and deported to the United States as an unbalanced minor. Now he was waiting for a reply from Mr. Lansing. What more he could do he did not know.

A letter was received from him by the boy with whom he had roomed in the few months he was at Princeton. This youth communicated at once with Mr. Triest.

"The letter told how my son had gone to England, and had enlisted in the navy there," said Mr. Triest last night. "I applied at once to the State Department, going to Washington myself and trying to see Mr. Lansing. In this I failed, but I saw others and asked that my boy be sent home. At that time, you understand, I did not know he was in trouble, but only that he had performed a foolish boy's trick, and, being still a minor, be discharged from the navy and returned to me at my request."

"I had no word from the State Department until the first of last month.
Then I received the notice that my boy was under arrest and was to be tried as a spy. I hurried to Washington at once, taking my lawyer with me. This time I saw Mr. Lansing.

"Mr. Lansing succeeded in doing this much for me. My boy is a prisoner, but they held off his trial until I could get the evidence which I hope and pray may save his life."

Winners of above game to play winners in Science on a date which will be decided later.

The Inter-Faculty Games.

In regard to the inter-faculty games, it was decided to leave the dates over for the time being. The rule that if a game be not begun within fifteen minutes after its scheduled time, the offending team thus forfeiting it, is strictly adhered to this year.

Each man taking part in a match must be medically examined before he be allowed to participate. Also, the captains of the opposing teams shall mutually decide upon their officials, and each captain shall be required to hand in a list to the referee of the match, containing a list of those men eligible to play, which must be turned in to the president at the Athletic Association.

Coaches Are Named.

The following men have offered their services as coaches and have been assigned by the executive to the respective teams:

Rounthwaite, Med. '20.
Brown, Arts '18.
Williscroft, Arts '19.
Fawcett, Sci. '18.
McLachlan, Med. '18.
Lemay, Arts '16 and '17.
Rothborough, Med. '16 and '17.
Ryan, Med. '19.
Woolatt, Sci. '19.

It was recommended that these men get in touch as soon as possible with the captain of the team which they are to coach.

Application for practices must be sent in to Mr. E. A. Cushing, the president of the Athletic Association.

BUSINESS MEETING HELD BY ARTS '17

President, Secretary-Treasurer, Football Manager and Members for Annual Boards Elected.

A meeting of the remaining members of the much depleted class of Arts '17 was held yesterday morning at 12 o'clock, in the reading room of the Arts Building. Owing to the retirement of Gerald Magor, who is leaving shortly for Ohio to take a course in aviation, the election of a new president for the class was made necessary. H. R. Morgan, editor-in-chief of the Daily, was unanimously elected to fill the position of class head. G. W. Bourke was elected the new secretary-treasurer of the class to take the place of G. R. Caverhill, who is leaving on Sunday for Quebec to take a course in the Army Service Corps. Mr. Caverhill presented his financial report for the year 1914-15, and showed that after the expenses incurred in the sports day of last year, the finances of the class were in an exceedingly flourishing condition.

The election of men to fill the vacancies on the editorial and business boards of the Annual, was made by the non-return to college of R. S. O'Meara and "Steve" Allen, resulted in P. A. G. Clark being elected to the editorial board, and T. W. L. MacDermott on the business board.

The attention of the class was then brought to bear on the football prospects. Upon looking around the number present, although there were several men in from the West, yet it did not look very promising for the football prospects of Arts '17, as there are in the class only enough men to form a football team, providing all of them know anything about that most interesting form of sport.

After a very heated discussion on the subject, "Pat" Allan was made manager of the team, and was formally invested with the powers of his office. It is very likely that the third and fourth years will have to combine in order to secure the makings of a team. However, leave it to "Pat" Allan to get busy in securing possible candidates for the team.

KEN MATHEWSON FLYING

1917 President is Now Flight Lieutenant in Air Service.

A letter received from one of the officers of the First Universities Company, under date of September 26, St. Martin's Plain, Shorncliffe, says:

Dear

We have just got news of a big British and French victory, and it looks as if our fellows were all in it. Jove, it's rotten here while they're out there. I ran into Harquahart Black (science '18) last night in Folkestone. He is in the artillery reserve and hopes to go over soon. I saw Lee Strathy the other day here. You are always running into fellows, though a good many have left with the second division. Ken Mathewson was down here for the week-end. He is now a full-fledged Lieutenant in the Royal Naval Air Service. Andy Wanklyn is getting along slowly, and will be in hospital for a few weeks yet. Etienne Beiler is attached to the 11th Battalion, having got his commission. Smeed Bull is with the Canadian Engineers. Two weeks ago while in town I saw Denis Baker, who is in the Royal Engineers, and Everett, who has a commission in the 6th C. M. A.; they are both old men of the second platoon in the University Battalion.

The Zepps have stopped coming for a while. They were looked on more as a show than anything else. I have been unfortunate to just miss them twice by just one night. Jove! there won't be many fellows back at college from what I hear, will there? Everybody seems well. Write soon, and don't forget to send me all the copies of the Daily.

Yours,

R. V. C. WILL DO RED CROSS WORK

Important Topics Discussed at Meeting of Undergrads. Yesterday.

The first meeting of the R.V.C. Undergraduate Society was held yesterday. Miss McCall, the new president, opened the meeting and welcomed the new students. She then asked Miss Hurlbatt to address the girls. Miss Hurlbatt spoke of the great privilege that women enjoyed in coming to McGill, and referred to the special conditions existing this year.

Then followed the election of the secretary, resulting in the appointment of Miss Cameron Hay, '18. The financial report of last year and the constitution were read. Miss Madeline Fritz was chosen first year representative on the reading room committee. A discussion took place concerning work for the Red Cross Society during the winter. It was suggested that undergraduates in this matter, and a committee was chosen from each body, with Miss McCall as convener. The undergraduate members of this were: Miss Burrell, Miss Price, Miss McLaren, and Miss Taylor. It was decided that the common room should be used for several hours during the day for this work.

A representative of each year was then chosen to look after the R.V.C. library for the session. The committee being: Miss Monk, Miss Cherry, Miss G. Melvin.

NEW MEN ARE TURNING OUT AT STADIUM

Prospects Are Bright for Successful Season of McGill Track Club.

SMEIZER DOES GOOD WORK

Freshmen Are Keen and Sophomores May Look to Their Laurels.

Only a few men appeared on the track last night, but amongst those were a few new men. Don Smelzer was out limbering up on the 100 yards and 220, and looks every bit as good as last year. With Hillier and Don out again at the sprints, and Legault going strong, there ought to be some excitement at this distance. Most of the older ones were nursing sore muscles yesterday as a result of Thursday's work out, so that in part accounts for yesterday's poor turn out. Now that things are pretty well started, it is expected that next week will see a larger crowd of cinder-path enthusiasts on hand every evening. The Freshmen-Soph meet is just a week off now, but any who have not watched their first appearance should not let this keep them from turning out. A lot can be done in a week, and with Tom Graydon on hand there should be no difficulty in making a good showing. Every day finds more Freshmen making enquiries about the meet. So there ought to be a good turn out next Saturday.

The 73rd Battalion have the use of football field at the Stadium this afternoon but that will not interfere at all with the track. All men that can are urged to turn out this afternoon. Amongst those out yesterday were: Roussac, Hunt, Frost, Crombie, Smelzer, and Laffoley.
